CITY PLAYGROUND

OPEN TO ALL GLENDALE CHILDREN FOR PLAY AND RED CROSS WORK

The municipal playground on San Fernando road, near Cypress, has been opened for all Glendale children. T. W. Watson, one of the three members of the recently appointed playground commission, on which Mrs. E. V. Bacon and John Logan are the others serving, has done good work in prompt preparation of the grounds for the activities of the chidlren. New tennis balls and net have been provided, a new croquet set and other means of exercise and amusement. Showers are provided, though boys wishing to use them must bring their own towels.

Mrs. Anna Curtis, teacher of the seventh grade at the Cerritos School, is in charge of the playground and helps the children each afternoon with Red Cross work. Little girls who like to sew may also enjoy pleasant hours under the trees while they perform this patriotic task.

On Wednesday afternoons each week there will be a class of ladies who will do Red Cross sewing while they watch the youngsters enjoy themselves. This part of the work will be organized following the first meeting, which will be tomorrow afternoon. All mothers of children and others are invited to come. The hours for these playground activities are from 1:00 o'clock till 5:00 each afternoon.

HAROLD PREEMAN IN FRANCE

Mrs. R. D. White received word Tuesday of the safe arrival of her son, Harold Preeman, over seas. Harold enlisted in the 143rd Field Artillery at Camp Kearny and left there June 11. He wrote some very interesting letters en route across the continent describing the country, and reciting with much enthusiasm the work of the Red Cross chapters with which he came in touch and the treatment of the soldiers by people generally. He spent a day's leave in seeing the sights of New York. He mentioned especially one of the leading hotels of the metropolis which makes a special rate of 25 cents a day to men in uniform. This includes bath, soap and towels.

Harold's present address is Co. I, Camp Kearny June Automatic Replacement Draft, Camp Merritt, N. J.

BONDS OF THE FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN

Bonds of the Fourth Liberty Loan are now being turned out by the thousands daily by the Treasury's Bureau of Engraving and Printing. The bonds are similar in form and design to those of the third loan, and space has been left on each bond for insertion of the exact terms of the bonds.

It is believed that a sufficient number of the bonds will be ready to make possible immediate delivery of all bonds of the fourth loan as they are purchased.

The division on women's war work of the Committee on Public Information announces that the trustees of Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, N. Y., offer to wives and daughters of Army officers three scholarships, including tuition and laboratory fees, for 1918-19 covering household science, household arts, and preparation for institutional work.

SHOP WORK

BOYS MAY HAVE INSTRUCTION IN CARPENTERING AT INTERMEDIATE SCHOOL

Glendale boys who take pleasure in carpentering and would appreciate the opportunity of working under competent instruction during the vacation months, in addition to being able to contribute a portion of their time for war service, have an exceptional chance to take up the interesting course offered at the Intermediate School, where Mr. Harkness will direct the making of benches and tables for Y. M. C. A. huts at the front.

The sum of $27.54 collected at the July 4th celebration has been devoted to the purchase of material for this purpose. The shops are open from 9 until 12 on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week, while the playground is open from 1:00 until 5:00 on the afternoons of those days. Mr. Harkness finds the boys so enthusiastic over the shop work, however, that he has made arrangements to allow those who care to go on with this work through the afternoon, to continue during the hours when the playground is open. All boys from the 5th grade up are eligible.

WRITES FROM TOURS

JOE WILSON HAS INTERESTING EXPERIENCES SIGHTSEEING IN FRANCE

The following extracts from a letter written by Joe Wilson to his mother will be of interest to his numerous Glendale friends. Joe was with the general headquarters of the American army in France until recently when he was transferred to Tours.

Tours, France.

Dear Mother:

I guess it is about time I rendered an account of myself. This time I have no letter of yours to answer, but no doubt will receive one in a day or two. Last Saturday night I spent promenading about, saw some aviators do many turns and twists and they surely can handle the planes. I visited a big American camp in Tours and it reminded me of our place up at general headquarters.

Yesterday afternoon I hurried down to the Y. M. C. A. to join the sightseeing party. Although it was supposed to be limited to 25 at least 30 were going. We went out to see the grottos near the city used as far back as 200 A. D. The first one we visited was used for the first meeting of Christians in France in St. Martin's time. It was a cave about 30 feet under ground and the room was about ten feet by fifteen. At present a church is standing at the entrance and the grotto is used just once a year, on Palm Sunday. There are still traces of the palms that were used this last Easter. Next we entered the large enclosure surrounded by one of those famous French walls. It was originally a large monastery used by St. Martin. Later new buildings turned it into a big boarding school for girls, and later it was bought by Lord Clifford of England and is at present being used for a French hospital. There are still some ruins of the first chapel, built in 1001, but the only occupants now are some bats in the bell tower. St. Martin's well was another spot we visited. It was 20 feet down under ground in another grotto and the water was the clearest I have ever seen. St. Martin was supposed to have fallen asleep while digging and when he awoke the job had been completed.

We also saw a well of St. Galatine which is a remarkable piece of work. It is a round well about 70 feet deep and cut out of the solid rock. It is just outside of several large caves which have been used for meetings. One is marked as the resting place of seven saints. Our last grotto was the cell of St. Patrick, who was the

LOYALTY LEAGUE

REPUBLICAN ORGANIZATION OVERSTEPS RIGHTS IN ENDORSING ODELL

The editor of the Evening News is registered as a republican. He is this day in receipt of a communication from the Republican Loyalty League of the 9th Congressional District endorsing the candidacy of Odell for Congress at a meeting held in Los Angeles July 13. To the best knowledge of the editor of the Evening News he at no time received an official notice that a Republican Loyalty League Club for the 9th Congressional District would be formed by assembly districts, and he therefore does not feel that he should be governed by the deliberations of that self-appointed organization. The league is officered by good men, but it is the opinion of the writer that it is a mistake to endorse any candidate under the name of the party unless all members of the party may be given an opportunity to participate in the deliberations of the meetings held. It would be entirely proper to have the endorsement of Mr. Odell given under the name of the Republican Odell League, which endorsement would clearly indicate that the Odell men of the republican party saw fit to band themselves together and give such an endorsement.

ARRIVES IN FRANCE

Mrs. George T. Holman, of 340 South Central avenue, received official notice on Tuesday afternoon of the safe arrival on "the other side" of her son, James Miller Holman, formerly of the 143d Field Artillery at Camp Kearny. Mr. Holman left Camp Kearny on June 12th, having volunteered for over-seas service, and was later stationed at Camp Merritt, New Jersey, until about July 1st. He is an enlisted soldier and has been eager for service at the front. He was the only Glendale boy on the ship, the safe arrival of which has been announced.

LIEUT. QUENTIN ROOSEVELT KILLED

"I AM GLAD HE COULD RENDER SOME SERVICE TO COUNTRY BEFORE MEETING HIS FATE," SAYS COLONEL

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, July 17.—Lieut. Quentin Roosevelt, 22 years old, youngest son of Col. Theodore Roosevelt, was killed when his aeroplane was downed in a fight over Chateau-Thierry Sunday, according to Paris newspapers. The reports say Roosevelt was attacked by a German air squadron when returning from a patrol flight and suddenly lost control of his machine as he was mortally wounded. His cousin Capt. Philip Roosevelt, who was in the trenches, saw him fall but did not know who it was. His machine fell flaming behind the German lines in sight of the American positions.

WITH THE AMERICANS ON THE MARNE, July 14 (Delayed by Censor)—Lieut. Quentin Roosevelt is missing after a fall in a running fight with a squadron of German aeroplanes northwest of Chateau-Thierry. Four American aviators chased the Boches behind the German lines. Roosevelt has not been heard from since, so it is not known whether he is dead or a prisoner. One plane fell flaming but aviators thought it might have been a German machine.

OYSTER BAY, July 17.—Colonel Roosevelt is glad his youngest son, Quentin, had a chance to render some service to his country before he was killed.

"Quentin's mother and I are very glad he got to the front and had a chance to render some service to his country and to show the stuff that was in him before his fate befell him," the Colonel said. He declared his son's death would have no effect on his plans. He will address the Republican Convention at Saratoga Friday.

CHAMPAGNE SITUATION EXCELLENT

BIG DRIVE HAS DWINDLED TO LOCAL ENGAGEMENTS—BELIEVED EFFORT WILL NOT LAST MUCH LONGER

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, July 17.—The situation on the Champagne front is given as "excellent" this afternoon. The enemy generally was held everywhere. Fighting is in progress in various sectors on the fifty-mile front this afternoon, and is particularly violent south of the Marne, where the Americans and French are co-operating to clear the Germans from the territory east of the American positions. Here the Germans are using reinforcements and attacking the heights north of St. Agnen, and the battle is proceeding further on its wooded slope. Powerful enemy attacks last night took a French salient, but they were soon ejected. More hard fighting is expected but it is not believed the effort can last much longer. As a whole the drive has diminished to comparatively local engagements. The Germans, balked in their major plans, are apparently working to pinch off Rheims. Between the Marne and Rheims French and Italian forces repelled all enemy attacks. Between Rheims and Main-de-Massiges the enemy only advanced three kilometers in three days' fighting. In the effort to reach Rheims mountain the Germans are pushing east and south instead of toward Paris. There is the most violent air fighting with the allies maintaining the supremacy. Planes in huge masses are sweeping the enemy ranks with machine guns. American planes downed six enemy planes and one balloon.

LONDON, July 17.—An American and French counter attack on a four-mile front south of Dormans swept the Germans back nearly two miles and forced them to cross the Marne.

It is authoritatively stated that German losses to date in the Champaign battle have reached 100,000.

WITH THE AMERICANS ON THE MARNE, July 17.—Co-operating with the French, the Americans have partly cleared Conde wood of the enemy, taken Hill 231 and the village of Chappell-Monthedon.

WIPE OUT GERMAN BATTALION

AMERICANS IN MARNE BATTLE ANNIHILATED AN ENTIRE GERMAN UNIT, PERSHING REPORTS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, July 17.—American troops fighting on the Marne Monday completely annihilated an entire German battalion, killing, wounding or capturing every man in the unit, General Pershing reports. This was accomplished when the Americans threw the Germans back across the river.

GENERAL PERSHING DECORATED

GREAT BRITAIN BESTOWS THE ORDER OF THE BATH ON AMERICAN COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, July 17.—General Pershing has been ordered decorated with the Order of the Bath, the highest military honor of Great Britain.

SOLDIER SHOT IN BACK

Corporal J. L. Quigley of the California Grizzlies was shot in the back at noon today at Glendale by a small boy, as he stood on the rear platform of the Lark coming into Los Angeles. Quigley was not seriously wounded but was taken to a hospital. The corporal with another soldier was returning from a furlough when one of a group of small boys fired at them with a small calibre rifle.

SERVICE CORPS

ENLISTS IN SALVAGE DEPARTMENT CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN

The patriotic young women, all employed during the day, who have been doing their war bit every Tuesday evening in the Surgical Dressings Department, under the direction of Mrs. Tuft, chairman, transferred their energies last evening to the assorting of the tin foil accumulation in the Salvage Department, much to the delight of Richardson D. White, chairman of that department.

Box upon box of this metal had piled up until it looked a veritable mountain, and all had to be sorted, as the dealers have refused to accept it rolled or folded. How to accomplish this was the question of the hour until the Service Corps came to the rescue.

Doubtless these dainty girls felt a twinge of reluctance when they realized that the service meant the doffing of their pretty surgical dressings uniforms and the donning of big, unromantic kitchen aprons and old gloves, but they were game, for had they not pledged themselves to do any kind of war work.

Of course the "job" could not be accompilshed in one evening, so they have promised to come again this evening and subsequent evenings. In the meantime, other workers, men, women or children, will be welcomed, as the surgical dressings room, where the assorting is being done, will have to be put in order within a few days, as a big shipment of supplies for that department is about due and the room will be needed for the regular surgical dressings work.

A GAS ATTACK

CRACK ENGINEER COMPANY IS ON THE BATTLE FRONT FOR FOUR MONTHS

We are indebted to W. B. Kirk for the following letter written by a friend of his, John C. Gillham, to his mother in South Pasadena.

Somewhere in France,
May 30, 1918.

My Dear Mother:

I haven't written to you in over two weeks as I was a little sick from some food for about a week. I just got better when four nights ago we were gassed. Don't gasp because I wasn't gassed—I only got enough to give me a headache and a bad cold in my head. We were all asleep when about two o'clock Monday morning we were awakened by the guards' rifle shots and klaxon, which is a warning of gas. We got on our masks O. K. Then I walked down the street a ways. One poor fellow was lying down throwing his arms around and moaning something awful. He sure was in agony. This village where I was that night was about ten minutes walk from the front. All night we kept our masks on. The next day men were taken by in ambulances by the score. Nothing happened Monday night or Tuesday morning. Tuesday afternoon I moved to a village that is on the front line. I like it here but we have to sleep in dugouts, which is sure hard on a man. Well, Holmes and I found ourselves a bed and crawled in about eleven o clock. At twelve we were awakened and ordered to "stand to" at twelve-fifteen under arms. At twelve-thirty we were ordered in our dugouts with gas curtains down. At ten minutes to one they started the worst bombardment I have ever heard. I thought the town was being blown to pieces although it couldn't be much worse than it is. Almost at once we got the gas alarm. We put our masks on and kept them on until after five in the morning. If you have ever had any torture in your life, those gas masks remind you of

CAMOUFLAGE SERVICE

HUGH R. WOOD OF DIANDO STUDIO CALLED TO COLORS IN BRITISH ARMY

The Diando Studio has suffered another serious loss through the war. Its special scenic artist, Hugh R. Wood, who was born in London but who has lived in the United States for twelve years, leaves today to enter the camouflage department in connection with the tank service of the English Army.

Mr. Wood ranks very high as a scenic artist, both on the legitimate and on the film stage. He painted most of the scenery for the original production of "Ben Hur" in New York City, and for the big Frohman productions, and he is equally as well known in England as here. His services will be of great value to the British war forces, and it is not surprising that he has been summoned. Three months ago he was married to Miss Mayme Merritt of Indianapolis, but as he is not permitted to take his wife overseas, she will remain here during his absence.

The studio has lost seven or eight men who have gone into the United States army and last week Norman Manning, former studio manager who recently joined the air forces of the Canadian army, left for the north and is now on his way to Canada for intensive training.

MRS. SHAW WILL HEAD SALVAGE DEPARTMENT

Mrs. Hartley Shaw has taken charge of the Salvage Department of the Tropico District Red Cross auxiliary and sends out an urgent call for help. It has long since been demonstrated in many chapters that the Salvage Department can be made a source of considerable revenue and Mrs. Shaw proposes to work her territory to the limit provided she can get the necessary help. That of course is a foregone conclusion as the loyal workers in that part of the city are legion. Headquarters have been established at 210 South San Fernando road. Those who are willing to work or will offer the use of their autos for collecting salvage are asked to communicate with Mrs. Shaw.

FOR WAR MOTHERS

Mrs. C. W. Burket will be hostess on Friday afternoon July 19, at her home, 704 West Fifth street, at a meeting of the W. C. T. U. There will be a program for war mothers and all who have boys in the service are cordially invited. Mothers are requested to bring letters from their soldier and sailor lads and to be prepared to tell anecdotes and show such snapshots of war activities as they may have received. The local branch of the W. C. T. U. has 24 stars on its service flag.

LABOR SHORTAGE

SCHOOL BOYS WHO HELPED IN SALVAGE WORK EMPLOYED ON FARMS

Superintendent Richardson D. White announces that the work of Red Cross salvage which has proved so important and remunerative a means of income for this great war service organization, has been greatly handicapped by the fact that so many boys have given their time during the summer months to agricultural and other work in relieving the threatened labor shortage. Consequently the call has gone out here, as in other branches of service, for women and girl helpers, and doubtless will meet with the same response that this appeal to the patriotism of women has met on all sides.

The salvage department of the local Red Cross, which is conducted at the rooms off of Brand boulevard next to the Pacific Electric station, needs these women recruits on Saturdays beginning at 8:30, though hours volunteered at any time during the day will be gratefully received. The women and girls will be needed especially for the folding and tying of papers, and enough boys and men have been permanently enlisted in this department to assure there being no work that is too heavy for the women. Machines are also very much desired for gathering up the salvage so generously donated by many Glendale homes, and Mr. White wishes it known that those who have machines eligible for enlistment may telephone him any morning but Saturday at the Intermediate School. The phones are Sunset 593 or Home 1363.

AMERICAN NURSES FOR AMERICAN SOLDIERS

To care for American wounded sent from the French sectors to French military hospitals, the American Red Cross has assigned one of its Red Cross nurses, and a French and English speaking Red Cross aid to every French hospital caring for our men, according to a report just received from Paris. Before these nurses were assigned some of our men who had been fighting in French regiments arrived at institutions where no one could speak English. A few of these soldiers not recognizing the language thought they had been captured and were in the hands of the Germans. Doctors and nurses could not understand the patients who therefore had difficulty in describing their symptoms and making clear their needs. Where immediate operation was necessary it was often impossible to prepare them.

Now every American on reaching a French hospital is to be received by an American Red Cross nurse who attends to his reception and care. If the nurse cannot speak French her aid interprets for the French hospital staff. The aid also attends to correspondence for our wounded. The nurse and aid visit every American patient frequently to give treatments, cheer him up, attend to his correspondence or to explain his needs to the French attendant. This plan has worked so well that the Service de Sante, the medical department of the French government, has requested the Red Cross to have ready such teams to place in every hospital receiving American men.

July 4th demonstrated beyond question, the title of the West to a first place in the shipbuilding industry. No longer will we have to fight to get shipbuilding contracts. Charles Schwab was here and saw with his own eyes what we can do and it is now only a question of, "how many can you build, boys?"

Western factories from Denver to the coast are building engines and machinery and our reputation as shipbuilders is established the world over. We must now proceed to secure legislation which will place the American ship owner on an equal footing with the foreign owner so he can compete for the world trade and in this manner we will make it possible to continue our great shipbuilding industry for years to come.

REHABILITATION OF OUR SOLDIERS

The United States government is not going to be content with merely reeducating and rehabilitating its soldiers who have been disabled by wounds, and fitting them for useful and gainful occupations; it is not going to leave them to shift for themselves, but will exert an active continuing interest in their welfare.

This does not mean that the government is to coddle them or treat them as weaklings, but it is going to take an active interest in securing them work, and in other ways endeavor to make up to them the opportunities and advantages they lost by reason of wounds received in fighting their country's battles.

OUR WAR INTENTIONS

"We intend what our forefathers, the founders of this Republic, intended. We in America believe our participation in this war to be the fruitage of what they planted. Our case differs from theirs only in this, that it is our inestimable privilege to concert with men out of every nation what shall make not only the liberties of America secure, but the liberties of every other people as well. * *

"There can be but one issue. The settlement must be final. There can be no compromise. No halfway decision would be tolerable. No halfway decision is conceivable. * * *

"The blinded rulers of Prussia have roused forces they knew little of—forces which can never be crushed to earth again; for they have in their heart an inspiration and a purpose which are deathless and of the very stuff of triumph."—From the President's Mount Vernon address.

INDUSTRIES AND EXEMPTIONS

The exemption boards in some states are up against the problem of administering exemptions so as not to cripple productive industries. The number of persons of draft age placed in class one range from 23 to 45 per cent—those having no families and no industrial exemption. There are four classes but where too large a percentage are in class one it works a hardship in many lines of industry. In the west men go up fast in industries and class one contains nearly all the energetic younger type of men who are the leaders. Class one contains a very large number of the keen, progressive supervisory type, gang foremen from ranches to copper mines and oil industries.

Such men are hard to replace and in many lines of production it is no longer a question of cost of production but the issue is production at any price to furnish needed war materials. The situation confronting many industries is serious and is commanding deep consideration.

THE LOWLY GROCER

Skilled and unskilled labor is enjoying large wage increases, immense profits are being made in textile, steel, packing and other industries. Shoe men, dry goods men and others have not had their profits reduced, but the one outstanding class of men who have lost out heavily by war conditions is the grocers. Their profits not only have not increased but in most cases have been seriously decreased. When butter sold for 35 cents a pound, the grocer paid 30 cents for it. Now when it sells for 58, he pays 53, thus dividing his per cent of profit almost in half. His profits in coffee, tea, vegetables, fruits and in fact almost every line of goods he handles have been seriously reduced and on not one have they been increased, and the cost of conducting business has almost doubled. The result is that grocers by the thousands have been forced to quit. Fully 900 have discontinued business in Los Angeles in the past year and smaller cities have been as hard hit. So I contend that the grocer is "doing his bit" by keeping at it in spite of decreased profits and increased expenses. Most of them have met the new conditions by cutting out soliciting and curtailing their deliveries, and in nearly every instance they have been nobly aided by the patriotic housewife.

THE GERMAN DOCKS

The taking over by the United States of the title and possession of the docks, piers, wharves, and other shipping property on the Hudson river owned by the German steamship companies, the North German Lloyd and the Hamburg corporations, is greeted with universal approval by the American people. The property is to be retained by the government and not turned back to its former owners at the close of the war.

Purchasers of Liberty Loan bonds and War Savings stamps who supply the money used for this purpose, may feel especial gratification. These docks and piers and wharves are strategic points of great importance and value, and it is intolerable that they should remain in enemy hands, or that they should ever revert to German ownership. German commerce has been shown to have been so indissolubly bound up with, and so much a part of German militarism, that it is just and right that it should suffer all the penalties of war.

NEGROES STUDY FOOD SAVING

Negro home demonstration agents of the United States department of agriculture and the state agricultural colleges are giving valuable help to their own people in the south. There are 202 of these trained women working under the direction of the state leaders of home demonstration work. They not only help the negroes in their homes, but also give instruction to women who are regular cooks. In the homes they teach gardening, canning, drying, brining, poultry raising, bee keeping and house and furniture repairing, while in the work given to cooks greater emphasis is put on food preparation and food and fuel conservation.

JUDGE WHITE FOR SUPERIOR COURT

Judge Thomas P. White, whose candidacy for judge of the Superior Court has just been announced, has been a resident of Los Angeles county for thirty years. During the last five years he has been a public official whose career has won nation-wide praise among students of municipal affairs and on the record which he has achieved as a police judge he will make his campaign for promotion to the higher court.

Judge White is a graduate of the College of Law of the University of Southern California. During his college career he was a member of the famous debating team which competed in two big inter-state debates, with Cornell University and the University of Washington. Since his entrance into public life his ability as an orator has been used in every movement for the civic betterment of Los Angeles and within the last year has been frequently employed in behalf of Liberty Loan, Red Cross and War Savings campaigns.

Following a successful private practice in which he was associated with some of the largest criminal and civil cases ever tried here, he was appointed a police judge in 1913 to fill the unexpired term of Police Judge Rose, who had been elected Mayor of Los Angeles. At the general election in 1914 Judge White was continued in office by the largest vote ever accorded a candidate for police judge, 66,449 ballots being cast for him.

Among the important reforms which Judge White has introduced into the Los Angeles court system was the establishment of the Women's Court. He removed the handling of women's cases from the sordid surroundings of the regular police court to Normal Hill Center, where sessions were held behind closed doors, thus shutting out the morbidly curious as well as White Slave agents who have been known to haunt police courts to seek out unfortunate women as their prey.

Judge White surrounded himself with a committee of women who acted as probation officers and extended a helping hand to the wards of the court. The success of the court was so apparent under the guidance of Judge White that two years ago all the police judges adopted it and those who had opposed the humane system at the beginning were enthusiastic in their commendation of it.

It was through Judge White's efforts that the Women's Industrial Home was established. Here women are given a chance to break the evil ties which bound them to the past and escape the stigma that marked all the women formerly committed to jail.

Judge White also established the probation system in Los Angeles. To the City Council in urging this reform, he said: "By probation we save men and in saving men we save the city money." Finally when the council named a probation officer it made no provision for him, so out of his own funds Judge White provided desk, chairs and other supplies and gave up part of his chambers.

The abolition of the nefarious "stool pigeon" system was accomplished by Judge White. He maintained that the system was a breeder of crime, that the city's money was being used to tempt men to break the law. The council agreed with him and the "stool pigeon" has been banished from Los Angeles.

Since the new Los Angeles liquor law went into effect, Judge White has enforced it to the letter. Four "blind pig" operators have been convicted in his court and each has received the limit sentence.

Assurances of support in his campaign for elevation to the higher court have been received by Judge White from many prominent men and women who have watched his humane work as a dispenser of justice on the police bench of Los Angeles.

Personals

G. A. V. Delgardo, who has been stationed at Fort Meyer, Va., writes to his mother that he is being transferred and expects to go over seas very soon.

R. W. Marr, of 795 Pacific avenue, went up to Tulare county yesterday to look for a ranch location. He expects to move his family back there about September 1st.

Mrs. Grover Reel and son Vincent, of Long Beach, are the guests of Mrs. Grace Halliday at 1612 Vine street. The Reels formerly lived at 1455 Oak street and Mr. Reel was a rural mail carrier. He is now delivering mail on a Long Beach route.

Clyde Moreland of 1631 Vine street is limping around on crutches as the result of an auto accident. After repairing a blowout he strove to board the machine after the driver had started it and fell, the rear wheel running over his ankle.

Miss Dorothy Armstrong, of 315 Blanche avenue, with her sister, Mrs. C. L. Marlenee and Dr. Marlenee and Ralph Welcome made up a dinner party on Sunday evening at the Virginia Hotel in Long Beach, following which Mrs. Marlenee gave a musical program on violin and piano.

Frank Budway is home from Fort McArthur for a short stay with his parents at 1432 West Fifth. He is disappointed at not being able to be in France with his brother Arthur, but was held back by the necessity for an operation, which he undergoes next week.

J. D. Weed, principal of the Tulare grammar school, who is spending his summer vacation in Southern California and expects later to visit relatives in Glendale, was the dinner guest on Monday evening of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Spaulding and Miss Louisiana Spaulding at their home, 121 West Park avenue. Mr. Moore, of Dinuba, was also a guest for the evening.

Mrs. Ruby J. Smart, president of the local W. C. T. U., reported this morning that two machine loads of members of the organization from Glendale were to spend the day today at the State headquarters in Los Angeles filling comfort bags for soldiers. Among those who went, besides Mrs. Smart, were Mesdames R. W. Mottern, Marcia Chandler, M. E. Brown, Delos Brown, A. M. Brooks and Cora Pettit.

Word has come by telegram that two more Glendale boys are now on the water, crossing to the scene of active war duty at the front. Mrs. Ella Richardson, of 805 South Central avenue, has received a message from her son Will, which was sent from New York City and tells of his departure, though no details are given. With him is Murray Durham, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Durham of 1679 West Seventh street. Both boys belong to the military police.

Miss Annie L. McIntyre, in charge of the Red Cross work at the Central avenue school, reports that the weekly Friday meetings at the school house since the close of school have been most successful. The sale of Thrift Stamps is increasing each week and the interest in the Red Cross sewing by both mothers and children is growing. The time of the meetings has been changed and from now on they will be held in the afternoon from 1:00 till 5:00 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Franklin, of 200 South Central avenue, have entertained a number of out-of-town guests recently, among whom were Mrs. M. Mason, of San Francisco, Mrs. S. A. Sterns, of Oakland, and Mr. and Mrs. M. Koehler, of Lawton, Oklahoma. Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Sterns were both girlhood friends of Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker and oddly enough renewed the friendship after a number of years on the same day, quite by coincidence.

Mrs. J. Alexander of Chicago arrived on Tuesday evening to be the guest of her daughter, Mrs. C. A. Betcher of 1456 Sycamore avenue. Mrs. Betcher has just received the first mail from overseas from her brother, Sergt. W. H. Alexander, of the 122d Ill. Field Artillery, who had made his home with his mother before he went into the service. During her son's absence Mrs. Alexander will probably spend much of her time in Southern California and her daughter hopes to keep her in Glendale for some time.

Miss Grace Crampton will be hostess this evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Crampton of 1011 Chestnut street, at an informal little party at which three Coast Artillery boys of Company C will be the special guests. Music and games will be enjoyed by the young people. Mrs. Crampton will assist her daughter in entertaining the little group which has also recently enjoyed a house party where all were present. The guests were John Barrett, Clarence Hamilton and Claude James, all of the 55th Ammunition Train, San Pedro, and the Misses Violet and Alma Turner.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the First Congregational Church will meet on Thursday afternoon, July 18, at the home of Mrs. Harry Bullinger, 243 South Central avenue, at 2 o'clock. Plans will be discussed for the annual picnic to be held the early part of August.

Attorney H. D. Richardson and Mrs. Richardson, of San Diego, are house guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. Nicholson at their home, 1119 North Central avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Richardson are so pelased with Glendale that they are now planning to spend their entire vacation here. The party motored to Long Beach on Tuesday, where a pleasant day was spent on the beach.

Mrs. A. A. MacIntyre and her daughter, Mrs. Maurice Bondaux, with tiny Gabrielle, were hostesses on Tuesday afternoon at their home, 142 South Central avenue, to a little group of friends who gathered for afternoon tea. Among them were Mrs. Frank M. Head, who is the guest for the summer of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Franklin, and her little daughter, Nancy Blake Head, also Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker, Mrs. Glenwood Jones, Mrs. Theodore Peirce and little Patricia Peirce.

MRS. RAMSAY HOSTESS

Mrs. W. W. Ramsay was hostess on Tuesday afternoon to the members of the new executive board of the Tuesday Afternoon Club who met at her home, 437 South Adams street, to discuss plans for the coming year. Mrs. Freeman Kelley, second vice-president, who is chairman of the program committee, presented the outline of her plans for next year's program, which was endorsed by the board.

Among the immediate activities contemplated is a large Red Cross benefit to be given by the club during the summer as one of the features of war service work to be carried on through the coming months. Active war work is a part of the summer program of the club.

All the members of the executive board were present excepting Mrs. Andrew Finley, the corresponding secretary, who was absent because of illness.

PENSION DELAY

By O. L. Kilborn

The slow unwinding of red tape in the pension department is working many hardships at this time. We recall the case of an aged widow on Vine street who was exactly a year in getting her claim through although there were no technicalities to delay it. Had she not had a son and grandson to aid her in the interval she would have actually suffered. Another serious case on Vine street is that of a widow whose husband died nearly ten months ago. She is helpless and has a serious malady that needs immediate attention and she has been ordered to a hospital for an operation, but she has no money to pay for treatment. Her desperate condition has been brought to the direct attention of the Pension Commissioner time and again by our Congressman and others but with no result so far. Of course there is an enormous rush of business in all departments at Washington now, but it seems a pity some way could not be devised to expedite such special cases.

UNITED STATES REVENUES

The internal-revenue collections for the fiscal year ending June 30 last totaled $3,672,000,000. The collections for the preceding year were $800,000,000. This year's collections exceed by nearly $200,000,000 the estimates made when the war revenue measures were passed by Congress last year.

Four thousand persons were employed in the work and the total cost of the collection was only $12,000,000. The patriotism roused by the war contributed largely to the success of the work, and the taxpayers assisted and co-operated with the Government.

A determined effort will be made to bring to book tax evaders in every part of the country. The Treasury already has evidence against a large number who have sought to evade taxes, and by checking up contracts and with other data the Government expects finally to discover and punish many tax evaders, as well as recover large amounts of revenue illegally withheld.

GAS ATTACK

it. All my broken bones are nothing to those house we go through wearing masks. There is a piece that fits on your nose that makes it feel like it is broken. The piece that fits in your mouth makes your mouth dry and parched. The mask fits so tight it gives you a headache. This is the English mask. When the morning was over I went up and got about two hours sleep. The next night, which was last night, we were kept up all night as we expected another attack. Also expected gas and liquid fire. Got about two hours sleep early this morning when I was awakened and sent out to the front line trenches in charge of an infantry detail. They were bringing in the dead Germans. Two were so young I almost felt sorry for them. One didn't look to be any older than sixteen and another fourteen. They were also small, almost covered with blood. It certainly looks as though Germany is on its last hook to use such young kids, but that is only an exception and there are plenty others who are older. Even they would kill you if they only got a chance. They are going to keep up gas or attacks every night until they take prisoners. We are sure knocking them for goals now and I bet they never take any of us. Three Americans were surrounded last night by fourteen Germans. The Americans killed or wounded all. One young American who was only about eighteen killed two Germans, wounded and captured another. He sure was tickled to death. Believe me, Americans can fight. Every one is just crazy to meet a German. I sure am proud I am in the division I am in. Pershing has proclaimed our artillery the best in the world. Our infantry the best in the army. Our regiment of engineers are covering more front than any other outfit and our company's trenches are known as the "famous E Co. trenches." Of course the infantry does the work but we boss it. I don't expect to get any sleep tonight as we expect orders to "stand to." If I don't it will mean I will have had six hours sleep in sixty to tomorrow morning. Have an awful headache now so I sure hope they don't give us gas again tonight, but the wind is still in their favor and we may expect it. I like it though. It is what I enlisted for. It is real war and I am in the thick of it.

I am sleeping or I intend to sleep here in the company's office tonight. Have such a cold that I don't want to sleep in a dugout and as some one broke in here about two weeks ago there must be a guard sleep here.

Received your letter of May 5 day before yesterday. You spoke of my letter making good time. Well, yours made just as good time. I was in this village and the same dugout when I wrote that letter, so you see how long we have been at the front. I was here long before I wrote that letter. We have been up here nearly four months. That is the longest any troops have ever been at the front so I hear. Your letter was wonderful and sure gave me much cheer. Wish Ruth would write more.

As ever, your loving son,

JOHN.

successor of St. Martin. The celi was cut out of a huge hill and is 30 feet underneath the ground. We walked about the wall, which was built in the 10th century, and noticed it had been so constructed as to serve as a fortress. Here our trip ended, but as the French high school fellows were having a track meet to entertain the wounded soldiers at the hospital most of us returned to watch them. It was quite a treat, with bright colored banners, high French officials, an American band and the elite of the French people. When it was over I hurried back to the Y. M. C. A. for supper, especially to get some ice cream and then came back to the barracks and rested up.

Today we are to have a lecture on Tours in the Middle Ages and it probably will be very good. Discovered that the fellow who works across the desk from me is from Belfast, is a big, strong looking fellow but is suffering from shell shock, having been up to the front. We just got acquainted today for he is a new man.

Had some more good letters last week, one from a Sergeant of the M. P.'s at Camp Lewis. They have a new captain and a good many changes have taken place. They all are so anxious to get over here.

Today it has been rather cloudy and rained a litle, but that helps to settle the dust. About time for the lecture so I will stop.

LETTERS TO GERMANY GO THROUGH RED CROSS

To prevent the possibility of valuable information getting into Germany, the American Red Cross, in sending letters behind the enemy lines at the request of persons in this country, is following carefully a plan worked out by the State Department to do away with code.

Americans, Germans or others in the U. S. wishing to communicate with relatives in Germany must now write out their message in Red Cross chapters throughout the country. These are sent through the division offices of the organization to National Headquarters. Here they are rewritten and the wording absolutely changed to prevent the sending of any diagram or secret code. The messages are then given to the Censorship Board and are passed or refused by them as the case may be. When they reach a neutral country, they are translated on other paper and in most cases delivered by the Red Cross of the place to which they go. The plan is considered as spy-proof as it is possible to devise.

During the last twenty-five years the practice has grown up that welfare inquiries and messages shall be permitted between civilians in countries which are at war with each other. The promiscuous sending of letters through organizations in neutral countries could not be permitted because of the large number of enemies in the country. To prohibit entirely the sending of messages would, for example, prevent a loyal American from finding out whether his sister, unfortunately, married to a German, was alive or dead. Prohibition was in force for a time and pitiful appeals were received by the Red Cross from French, Belgians and Italians begging the society to get word for them as to whether their people in the occupied districts were still alive.

The State Department presented to the Red Cross the present plan in detail and asked that the Red Cross put it into effect. As it was a purely humanitarian work, the government could do no more than supervise the work.

Today the American Red Cross is sending an average of 1300 letters a day to persons living behind the enemy lines. This work is done through Washington Headquarters of the American Red Cross by the Bureau of Communication, of which Edward M. Day is acting director.

Don't waste anything—eat the paper label on the loaf of bread—it is as nutritious as some breakfast foods. And speaking of cereals, an old whisk broom chopped fine, covered with real cream and plenty of sugar, makes an excellent morning dish. If you have no hose handy, water the garden with your tears. Save your empty tin cans. They may be straightened out and used to mend the leaky roof. The lazy husband who sits around all day and rocks may be made to run the churn if properly harnessed thereto.—Florida Times-Union.

STATE NEWS

LOS ANGELES, July 17.—The "skip stop" system of operating street cars is under consideration in Los Angeles. Under the plan cars will stop at every other block, eliminating half the stops. Power and fuel saving is the purpose.

LOS ANGELES July 17.—Refusal of merchants or other retail dealers to sell necessities to any person who offers the ready cash, will be made punishable by law, under a plan which has the approval of the Los Angeles city council. City Prosecutor E. W. Winney proposed such a law as a result of numerous complaints that ice companies had refused to sell or deliver ice in various parts of the city. The plan would make such a refusal on the part of any dealer a misdemeanor with both fine and imprisonment as the penalty.

LOS ANGELES, July 17.—And still all is not smooth sailing for I. W. Fuqua, president of the Red Star Petroleum Company, operating in the Montebello oilfields. Although a charge of not shutting off water from an oil well was dismissed early last week, he is again in the justice court as a defendant. Today he appears before Judge Hinshaw on a charge of rendering false reports regarding operations of his company. His reports, the state oil and gas supervisor alleges, concealed the fact that the company recently encountered oil bearing formation.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 17.—A new industry has been established in the jute mill at San Quentin prison in the manufacture of "smoke balls" used in exterminating squirrels in California. The "smoke balls" are made from jute waste. These balls, State Purchasing Agent McMillin announced, will be supplied to all county horticultural commissions in the state for $2.75 per thousand and it is estimated that 2,000,000 will be needed in the next year. The waste heretofore has been sold to chemical companies that used it to make "smoke balls" which sold at $4.50 per thousand.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 16.—G. H. Hecke, state horticultural commissioner, has received word that the government of Tasmania on the opposite side of the globe, is sending its pomologist, J. W. Ward, to study fruit culture in California and other Pacific coast states. In addition to studying the cultural part of the fruit industry Ward will investigate the preparation and handling of fruit for market and will go into detail in studying our standardization methods.

SALINAS, Cal., July 17.—The California Rodeo and Salinas Big Week opened here today before a record crowd. The celebration closes Sunday. Every dollar of the proceeds goes to the Red Cross. In addition to the Rodeo and carnival proceeds the Red Cross will receive the proceeds of daily auction sales of blooded stock donated by ranchers and stockmen. The California Cattlemen's Association will hold its annual meeting in conjunction with the Rodeo. The west's most famous riders and "outlaws" will appear in the arena. Equipment and mounts of the cowboys and girls are valued at half a million dollars.

BERKELEY, Cal., July 17.—The first convention of the Western District of the American Physical Educational Association opened at the University of California here today. The meeting was arranged under the direction of the national organization and physical directors of schools, colleges and similar institutions from all of the western states were in attendance at the opening session. Charles H. Hunt presided at the conference with Frank L. Kleeberger as first vice-president, C. S. Botsford second vice-president, Florence Rogers third vice-president and F. W. Cozens secretary-treasurer. Matters of considerable importance regarding athletic relations among western institutions as well as "shop talk" of the physical directors will play leading parts in the meeting.

LANDS CLASSED FOR ENTRY

The Department of the Interior issues the following:

Secretary Lane announces that during the month of May over 3,000,000 acres of land were classified for entry under the act which provides for acquiring stock-raising homesteads embracing 640 acres each. Of this land, 985,000 acres are in Colorado, 370,000 in New Mexico, 475,000 in South Dakota, and 1,265,000 in Wyoming. This makes a total of more than 6,000,000 acres that have so far been designated for entry under this act.

Also during the month nearly 1,000,000 acres of land were designated for entry under the enlarged homestead act under which entrymen may take up 320-acre tracts. These lands are located in Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, New Mexico, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Washington, and Wyoming.

Twenty-two thousand acres in Montana and 2,400 acres in Washington were restored from coal withdrawals.

Chickens are great destroyers of insects, including many injurious forms, in yard, pasture, and orchards. They destroy useless grasses and weeds also.

THE ELITE

Corsets remodelled and repaired. Also fancy dressmaking and other sewing done at the Elite, Maryland and Broadway. Phone 258 Black.
